

Marin Master Gardeners Press Release

HONEYBEES NEED YOU!

**Come learn how to Create a Habitat and/or Become a Beekeeper****

Thursday, November 5
Marin Art and Garden Center (Livermore Room)
6:30-7:00 social time, 7:00-8:00 Lecture/Presentation
Admission: $5.00.

We all know that Honeybees are struggling—it would really help if you provided a healthy environment for them! Kate Frey, internationally acclaimed garden designer, who specializes in habitat garden design, and Barbara Schlumberger, who has create a honeybee sanctuary at The Melissa Garden in Healdsburg, will be telling us how to promote honeybee health through a habitat garden and ... what it takes to be a backyard beekeeper. This promises to be a sweet presentation.

Everyone is Welcome. For more information contact the UCCE Marin Master Gardeners Help Desk at 499-4204.
